Your Suggestions!

Every month we answer all the suggestions we receive in our suggestion box right here!

Suggestion: iPads that check out like a book.

Our response: We've looked into lending iPads, but currently they aren't viable, with patron privacy being difficult to maintain on a shared device of this kind.

- John, Library Director

Suggestion: Coven (The Graphic Novel)

Our response: I've just ordered this!
- Brad, Teen Librarian

Suggestion: Animorphs (The Original Series)

Our response: Alas, the original series of 54 ANIMORPHS books are no longer in print! However, libraries across Monroe County still own copies of most (but not all) the books in the series. We can put these on hold to be sent here to you!
- Steve, Kids Librarian

THE PRESTIGE

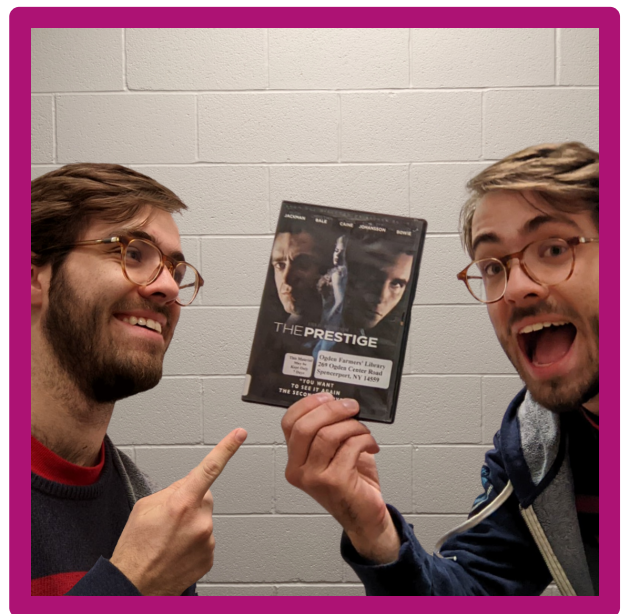

Christopher Nolan is one of those directors who always shoots high, so with each film he either hits a home run or misses by a mile. The Prestige is one of Nolan's surest homers, with a plot that unfurls like a flower over its course.

The film follows the rapidly escalating rivalry between magicians Alfred Borden (Christian Bale) and Robert Angier (Hugh Jackman) as each attempts to perfect the same illusion.

I am always fascinated by characters driven by an intense, self-destructing obsession and both Angier and Borden fit the bill. Each man's obsession leads him to commit questionable acts, the moralities of which are fascinating to ponder and discuss after the credits roll.

And listen, if you're still not sold, just trust me: this movie is a feast for the eyes. It's all magic tricks, symmetries and top hats upon top hats upon top hats.

If you're looking for a fun, thought provoking thriller, the pristine The Prestige will certainly do the trick!
